Letters From the Road Gabrielle Keller, Ethan Berry

Letters from the Road Photographs by Gabrielle Keller / Text by Ethan Berry

A journal of thoughts and pictures, by Ethan Berry and Gabrielle Keller, whose dialogue started at a motorcycle shop, which became an ideal setting for extended conversations that went beyond motorcycles and the traditional imagery associated with them. They continued to communicate while traveling, one writing from the road, and the other photographing in the motorcycle repair shop. The interplay between the male voice (the written work) and the female voice (the pictures) created an intensely personal narrative that eventually became a conversation in itself. The conversation moves forward as a series of moments in time, brief encounters of feeling, thought, and image that resonate across pages and miles.

Foreword by Anthony Rotundo, author of American Manhood: "Transformations in Masculinity from the Revolution to the Modern Era"

"You have created a unique piece of art..the combination of the two creates a timeless moment.. I am refreshed to travel with you as you transform the literal into a metaphor for every person's journey." Robert Perkins, documentary filmmaker, "Into The Great Solitude", and "Talking To Angels"
